This work is the only publication of its kind, and is issued biennially in May. The next edition will be for the years 1924-1925 (Vol. 13) and will be issued in May, 1924. Who's Who in America aims to give a brief, crisp personal sketch of every living American whose position or achievements make his personality of general interest, and tells just the things every intelligent person wants to know about those who are most conspicuous in every walk of life. A valuable feature of the book will be found in the volumes appended to each sketch. NOTICE

This work is thoroughly revised, brought down, and reissued biennially in May. The next edition will be for the years 1924-1925 (Vol. 13) and will be issued in May, 1924. Who's Who in America aims to give a brief, crisp personal sketch of every living American whose position or achievements make his personality of general interest, and tells just the things every intelligent person wants to know about those who are most conspicuous in every walk of life.

A valuable feature of the book will be found in the address appended to each sketch. No other work has ever attempted the difficult task of finding and furnishing the addresses of leading Americans in all parts of the world. Thus, the book possesses not only the best attributes of a Biographical Dictionary, but is also a handy Directory of those living people of America in whom almost everybody is interested.

The Geographical Index which first appeared in the 1908-9 edition (Vol. V), is a feature which adds greatly to the usefulness of the volume. It groups by states and post-office address all the names in the book, making it easy to find quickly the names for any particular place or locality.

THE FIRST EDITION (for 1899-1900) contained 827 pages and 8,602 sketches.

THE SECOND EDITION (for 1901-2) contained 1,300 pages and 11,551 sketches.

THE THIRD EDITION (for 1903-5) contained about 1,800 pages and 14,443 sketches.

THE FOURTH EDITION, or VOL. IV (for 1906-7), contained over 2,000 pages and 16,216 sketches.

PREFACE

WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA is a biennial publication. The first edition was published in 1899. Since that time a new edition, carefully revised, has appeared every two years.

Starting with 827 pages, the book has grown to 3,520 pages, an increase of 2,693 pages, or more than three times the original number. The first edition contained 8,602 biographies. The present edition (Vol. XII) contains 24,278 biographies, or a total of more than four times the number which appeared in the original edition, and 835 more sketches than appeared in Vol. XI, the last previous edition.

Notwithstanding the considerably increased number of sketches in this edition, over any of its predecessors, many sketches will not be found which appeared in earlier issues, and there have been omitted from this volume 2,504 sketches which appeared in the edition for 1920-1921. These omissions have been rendered necessary for various reasons. Retirement from public office, when official position constituted the only ground for inclusion, will account for numerous eliminations. The death roll alone for the last biennium has made necessary the omission of 1,088 sketches, which appeared in the immediately preceding edition, while the death record, so far as known, of those whose sketches have appeared in all the volumes, comprises 9,648 names.

A few sketches were omitted because repeated requests to revise and verify personal data failed to elicit any response, and present addresses could not be ascertained. It may be safely assumed that some of those of whom no trace could be found have passed away. Others have removed to unknown locations, leaving no forwarding address. It is probable, therefore, that names which have been omitted, for the time, because of lack of up-to-date information concerning them, may be reinstated in future editions. Seekers for information in regard to omitted names are referred to previous editions for the latest available data.

The omissions from Vol. XI (1920-1921) have been more than compensated for by the addition of 3,339 biographies which have appeared in no previous edition. These biographies represent, as nearly as possible, the most notable Americans of the time—the leaders of American thought and achievement in all parts of the world.

NOTE.—In the preface of a book of reference so long established and so well known as WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA, little can be said that is not practically a repetition of the introductory remarks contained in earlier editions. This preface is adapted, substantially, from earlier editions.

In Vol. VII the cross-references to previous editions reached the large number of 8,091—a number almost as great as the total number of sketches in the first edition of the book. The names accumulated in this way had become burdensome, and it was evident that the burden would become still greater with each succeeding biennium if the accumulating process were continued. For this reason cross references to the earlier editions were dropped with publication of Vol. VIII (1914-15). Therefore, Vol. VII (1912-13) will be of special value to anyone who desires to find the biographies which appeared in the earlier editions but were discontinued with publication of Vol. VIII (1914-15).

Cross references in the present volume refer to life-sketches in all volumes back to Vol. VII (1912-1913), inclusive, comprising all sketches which have been dropped since publication of that edition.

If to the 24,278 life-sketches in this issue be added the 18,491 which appeared in the previous editions, but which were omitted from time to time, a grand total of 42,769 biographical sketches will be available for ready reference to possessors of a complete file of the volumes of WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA. No other book has covered the biographical field of America in any such complete or authentic way.

It has been the rule arbitrarily to include sketches of all officers of the Army above the rank of colonel and all officers of the Navy above the rank of captain. An exception was made in the 1918-1919 edition, on account of the World War, and colonels of the Army and captains of the Navy were also included. With publication of the edition for 1920-1921 the original rule was again adopted and sketches now appear only of officers of the Army above the rank of colonel and officers of the Navy above the rank of captain.

Each succeeding volume presents sketches of living notabilities with such completeness and authenticity as to be indispensable for daily reference, while the old editions become more and more valuable as records of those who have died, or who, for some other reason, have not been retained in this book.

It is doubtless true that the fitness of every name included will not be apparent to every user of the book. The artist will expect the volume to be especially complete in its selection of the artistic; the possessor of literary tastes will be disappointed if some author's name be missing; the scientist will miss names belonging to his own particular department of research. It is a fact, however, that while the standard of admission has from the first been high, there has been an unremitting effort to satisfy the reasonable expectations of those of all professions and vocations as to the names included. If there have been errors, they have been, in the main, on the side of liberality, in order that the book might be useful in the highest degree.

The invitation extended in former editions for the suggestion of new names has met with ready and cordial response. In this way many worthy names have been brought to the attention of the editor, and when such names were found to be eligible they were given a place in the book, provided the necessary data could be procured; but it should be understood that if a suggested name does not subsequently appear the omission is not necessarily an indication that the name has been rejected, for there are still occasional instances of failure to respond to requests for the required facts, without which a sketch cannot be included—and sketches for WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA are prepared from first-hand material only.

A summary of the birthplace and the present address, by states and countries, of all the persons biographically sketched, will be found in its accustomed place.

The rules governing the admission of names will be found on another page, under the caption "Qualifications for Admission."

In view of the fact that the educational statistics prepared at great pains for Vols. I, II, III, VI and X, produced, in each instance, almost identical results, it has been thought unnecessary to go over the ground again; and it may be assumed with almost positive certainty that a similar investigation of the educational status of the people whose life-sketches are contained in this issue would disclose results so strikingly similar to all previous findings as to illustrate convincingly the relation between college education and the degree of eminence or success which makes its possessor eligible for admission to these pages. Accepting the tabulated figures of previous editions as correct, it may be stated that over 72 per cent of the persons whose sketches appear in the present issue attended college and over 59 per cent are college graduates.

A "key" to the pronunciation of many of the most difficult names will be found on pages 13 to 18.

Let it again be stated that WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA aims to give brief, crisp, personal sketches of the most notable living Americans in all parts of the world—the men and women whose position or achievements make them of general interest. It tells just the things every intelligent person wants to know about those who are most conspicuous in every reputable walk of life—birthplace, age, parentage, education, degrees, occupation, position and achievements, politics, societies, clubs, marriage; and, in fact, the chief features of each career without eulogy or criticism.

Suggestions for improvement, changes in biographical data, notices of deaths, and announcements of changes of address as they occur, are invited.

The demonstrated usefulness of WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA has extended to practically all classes of men and institutions, and the information which this book alone possesses makes it a practical necessity for almost every intelligent person. In educational institutions it has its recognized place, as a matter of course, and the rapidly increasing use of the book in the schoolroom is creating an interest not known before, in important present-day events and personages, and arousing a spirit of inquiry and emulation which cannot fail to prove of great practical benefit to the pupil in after life. The best educational authorities recognize the value of high ideals, as exemplified in the lives of successful men and women, in shaping the aspirations of the growing mind. WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA is the only source to which teacher and student may turn, with assurance, for exact information pertaining to the careers of practically all of the most conspicuous living Americans. In the pages of this volume are mirrored the national life in all its various phases; the developments of science and industry; the marshaling of financial forces on a scale never before attempted; the building up of intelligence by the increasing magnificence and widening scope of educational facilities; the growing power of the Nation in military, naval and commercial strength; the development of literature and art; the ministry of the Gospel at home and abroad through American agencies; the progress and evolution of new social and political theories and potentialities. All these and other phases of American activity and progress are pictured through the life-sketches of the men and women who best represent them.

An attentive reading of the life-sketches in this volume discloses many extraordinary examples of industry which are overlooked in a cursory reading, but which, nevertheless, are full of valuable suggestion for the thoughtful mind. Many deeds of noble and beneficent achievement are recorded in these life-histories; and here are also chronicled thousands of activities which might be emulated with profit, not only by the youth of the country, but by all classes of American citizenship.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR ADMISSION

The standards of admission to WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA divide the eligibles into two classes: (1) those who are selected on account of special prominence in creditable lines of effort, making them the subjects of extensive interest, inquiry or discussion in this country; and (2) those who are arbitrarily included on account of official position—civil, military, naval, religious, or educational.

The first of these two classes comprises persons who have accomplished some conspicuous achievement—something out of the ordinary, so to speak—something which distinguishes them from the vast majority of their contemporaries. This class is confined to Americans, or those who are so prominently identified with American affairs as to be the subjects of wide inquiry or discussion in the United States. Thus a few foreign actors, singers, lecturers and others are included, who, by frequent visits to America, or in some other way, have become the subjects of common American interest. Names appear of those who are broadly prominent in some special field but who are little known in their own communities. The man of great achievement may be scarcely known at all in the particular locality in which he lives. The national character is frequently he whose work is better known than himself, and it is pertinent personal information concerning such an individual that WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA aims to gather and disseminate.

The arbitrary class embraces without regard to notability or prominence in any other respect, the following: All members of Congress; members of the Cabinet; all United States judges; all governors of States, Territories and island possessions of the United States; Federal department heads; all judges of State and Territorial Courts of highest appellate jurisdiction; all American ambassadors and ministers plenipotentiary, and all ambassadors and ministers accredited to this country; all American consuls at important places in foreign countries; all living American authors of books possessing more than ephemeral value; the attorneys general of the various States; all officers of the Army above the rank of colonel, and of the Navy above the rank of captain; heads of all the larger universities and colleges; heads of the leading societies devoted to philanthropic, educational and scientific aims; members of the National Academy of Sciences, the National Academy of Design, the American Academy of Arts and Letters, the National Institute of Arts and Letters; bishops and chief ecclesiastics of all the larger religious denominations of the United States; and others who are in like manner chosen because of their official relations and affiliations.

To be sure, the majority of the names in the arbitrary classification would be admitted without hesitation even if they did not belong to the classification indicated, because of a personal record not at all dependent upon official position.

Not a single sketch in WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA has been paid for—and none can be paid for.

In the foregoing table are listed the 55 States and Territories of the United States, including Alaska, Danish West Indies (acquired in 1917), Hawaii Territory, Porto Rico, the District of Columbia, the Philippine Islands, the Canal Zone, and 82 foreign countries or their dependencies as locations of the birth or residence of persons whose names appear in the present volume.

Of the total number of 24,278 names listed, 21,579 or 88.88 per cent, are natives of the United States; 2,430, or 10.01 per cent, are of foreign birth; 6 were born at sea, and 263 do not report as to place of birth. For the sake of comparison it may be stated that of persons whose names appear in the last previous edition (1920-1921), 88.89 per cent were native and 9.96 per cent were foreign born.

New York State contributes 3,347 natives, and, as heretofore, stands at the head of the list numerically, followed by Massachusetts with 2,030, Pennsylvania with 1,888, Ohio with 1,774; next follows Illinois with 1,316, Indiana with 784, Virginia with 655, and Iowa with 650. Other states contributing more than 300 natives are Michigan, Wisconsin, Connecticut, Missouri, New Jersey, Maine, Maryland, Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina, New Hampshire, Vermont, in the order named. Of the above-named states, Illinois made the largest gain (109) over the number listed in the 1920-1921 edition.

New York State leads in the number of residents, being credited with 5,294. Massachusetts is credited with 1,964, Illinois with 1,610, Pennsylvania, 1,591, District of Columbia, 1,452, and California with 1,178; other states credited with more than 300 residents are in the order named, Ohio, New Jersey, Connecticut, Missouri, Michigan, Maryland, Minnesota, Virginia, Indiana, Wisconsin, Texas, and Iowa.

In regard to home addresses, 23,809 have their permanent homes in the United States, its territories or possessions, and the homes of 384 are in foreign countries. The addresses of 85 are not given. Of the 384 living abroad, 74 have their homes in France, 59 in England, 37 in Canada, 33 in China, 30 in Italy, 16 in Mexico, and 15 in Japan.

It is interesting to note that American residents of foreign countries are comparatively few, excepting those who are living abroad temporarily as representatives of the U. S. Government or in a purely business capacity. It is obvious that Americans of more than local distinction, are, with few exceptions, content with the United States as their permanent abiding place.

Of the foreign-born, Canada is credited with 514, England with 445, Germany 349, Ireland 142, Scotland 134, Russia 93, Sweden 79, France 73.

Birth statistics show that during very recent years the Middle West and West have contributed an increasing percentage of men and women of prominence as compared with the Atlantic states. Whereas in the 1920-1921 edition there were 3,356 listed as having been born in New York State, the present edition shows 3,347, a decrease of 9. The other Eastern States show very small gains while the Western States are led by Illinois with a gain of 109.

The table will be found valuable as showing the extent of the dispersion or concentration of the activities and achievements of those deemed worthy of a place in this volume. Many other interesting deductions may be made by a careful study of the table.
